NATURE DEFINES US

Just east of Edmonton is an island of nature. These forests, lakes and wetlands are known as the Beaver Hills.

This special place has a rich conservation history, and it contains some of the oldest protected areas in Canada. It was set aside as forest reserve in 1892 and was officially designated as a UNESCO Biosphere Reserve in 2016.

The Nature Conservancy of Canada will connect a natural corridor across this landscape by conserving private lands and connecting protected areas. Join other Albertans in creating a conservation legacy and ensuring that this natural landscape is protected and accessible to future generations.

Help us to connect and conserve the Beaver Hills.

WHY IS IT CALLED THE "YELLOWHEAD"?

The Yellowhead Highway began as the secret trail of its namesake, the blonde Iroquois Métis guide Pierre Bostonais, known as "Tête Jaune" — which literally translates to "Yellow Head."

STARTING POINT

The Trans-Canada Highway 16 begins in the west at Masset, BC, on Haida Gwaii, and heads south along Graham Island to Skidegate. It then connects via a 172 km-long ferry route to Prince Rupert and passes southeastward to Prince George and through to Tête Jaune Cache. It then enters Alberta through the Rocky Mountains near Jasper and passes through Edmonton and Saskatoon before meeting the Trans-Canada Highway 1 near Portage la Prairie, Manitoba. Officially, the eastern end of the Yellowhead Highway is at the corner of Portage Avenue and Main Street in Winnipeg.

.....

DID YOU KNOW THERE IS A SOUTHERN ROUTE?

Near Mount Robson, the southern route follows the pass to Kamloops and on to Hope, the gateway to the Fraser Valley.

LENGTH

The total length of the Yellowhead Highway, including ferries, is 2,960 km. The southern leg in BC is 524 km, for a combined total of 3,484 km!

PAVED WITH HISTORY

Experience the history of the west while exploring the Yellowhead Highway

—By Matthew Stepanic

Though it's only officially been open since 1970, when you drive along the Yellowhead Highway, you're driving along a road paved with hundreds of years of history and adventure. Your road trip follows the footsteps of fearless fur traders, Cariboo Gold Rush hopefuls, and daredevil Model T Ford drivers!

The Yellowhead's most famous traveller — and the highway's namesake — is Pierre Bostonais who was an Iroquois Métis guide in the early 1800s. He led countless fur traders through the seemingly impassable Rocky Mountains, the first being James McMillan in 1825, a chief trader with the Hudson's Bay Company. He also led the rival North West Company through his route as well. French voyageurs referred to him as Tête Jaune (which translates to Yellowhead) because of the blonde streaks in his hair — and so his route became known as the Yellowhead Pass.

In 1859, gold was discovered in the Horsefly River causing a flood of travellers to the area dreaming of immense and fast wealth. One group known as the Overlanders, made up of 115 men and one woman from Ontario, travelled through the Yellowhead Pass based on the advice of a party of miners they met in Fort Edmonton. Over their months-long journey, they suffered many losses and separations, but their trip was successful and is still known as one of the most impressive journeys in Canadian travel history.

Half a century after Bostonais, the Canadian National Railway constructed a line along that same route, which they called the Yellowhead Trail. However, it wasn't until after the First World War that people began to conceive of a car-worthy road in its place. In 1921, a CNR surveyor and the president of the Edmonton Automobile Association formed a committee to lobby for the creation of the Yellowhead Highway. Both believed that the abandoned railway bed would be the ideal foundation for the road.

As automobile popularity was rising, and travelling the Yellowhead Trail was difficult for the average car, the two decided to offer a challenge to Westerners — anyone who could traverse the entire road by car would be offered a prize similar to the one sought by Cariboo Gold Rush hopefuls: a gold medal. So on June 17, 1922, Charles Neiymer and Frank Silverthorne departed in a 4x4 and, the following week, George Gordon and J. Sims left Edmonton in a Model T Ford. Both pairs arrived in Victoria on July 4 and were awarded gold medals.

Despite the attention this event created, it still wasn't until the Second World War that the road saw much development. During the war, displaced Japanese Canadians in internment camps were forced to work on the road. Their labour built a path through Jasper and into the Fraser Valley. With all of these improvements, the road received more federal investment and was generally re-built and paved by 1969. Earlier in 1947, the Trans Canada Yellowhead Highway Association was formed to work with the communities along the highway to help develop the safety and economies along the burgeoning route. After many voyages and ventures, the Yellowhead Highway was officially opened on August 15, 1970, by B.C. Premier W.A.C. Bennett.

Today, the Yellowhead Highway stretches 2,960 km across the four Western provinces of Canada, containing in its path five national parks, 90 provincial parks, and countless national historic sites. The road begins in downtown Winnipeg where fur traders and voyageurs met, and continues through the prairies and Rocky Mountains to the pristine islands of the Haida Gwaii on the West Coast. Some incredible adventures have been had on the legendary Yellowhead Highway — we hope Go Yellowhead helps you make yours a memorable one!

Choose between two scenic routes to take you across British Columbia, and discover unique culture and gorgeous mountain views.

The northwest route begins off the provincial coast on Haida Gwaii, commonly known as the Queen Charlotte Islands. Discover endless untouched beaches, majestic wildlife, and temperate rainforest at the Gwaii Haanas National Park Reserve and Heritage Site.

On the mainland, the route starts in Prince Rupert—home to one of the largest and deepest ice-free seaports on the north coast—and continues all the way to the fork at Tête Jaune Cache. For hiking, canoeing, and skiing, stop in Telkwa, which borders on a provincial park. Popular fishing destinations home to steelhead, salmon, and trout include the Bulkley and Morice river systems. Make sure to stop in Houston for a selfie with the world's largest fly-fishing rod!

At Tête Jaune Cache, continue east into Alberta (Highway 16) or hop onto the southern leg towards Hope (Highway 5), where you can take a tram over the famous Hell's Gate gorge. The southern route is filled with beautiful parks and trail systems to stop and enjoy along the way, including the incredible volcanic cliffs in Monck Provincial Park. Some notable stops include George Hicks Park (home to the world's longest Chinook salmon run), Wells Gray Park (home to hundreds of waterfalls), and Lac du Bois Grasslands (one of the largest grassland parks in Canada).

Check out the Lloydminster Cultural & Science Centre that showcases the lives of early settlers, renowned art in the Imhoff Gallery, and an exhibit on oilfield technology.

Then travel to the Battlefords, where you can stop at the King Hill Lookout and get a 360-degree view of the area, including the river valley, Battleford, and North Battleford. The western municipality of Russell-Binscarth is the gateway to several outdoor sites, including Asessippi Ski Area & Resort, Asessippi Provincial Park, Lake of the Prairies, and Spear Lake.

Find literary history in Neepawa, where you can visit a living memorial to iconic Canadian author Margaret Laurence. You can also tour the Farmery Estate Brewery, which is one of the few breweries in the world that grows its own wheat and hops and brews it on site.

Make sure to stop in Gladstone to get your picture taken with "Happy Rock." This iconic mascot was featured in 2010 by Canada Post on a commemorative stamp!

Margaret Laurence. From May long until September long, you can visit her home and see inside the world of this literary legend. Neepawa is most notably known as the "Lily Capital of the World." A must-visit is the Lily Nook, where you can see their show gardens and growing field, as well as purchase potted lilies or lily bulbs. In July, you can marvel at more than 1500 varieties in peak bloom!

Portage La Prairie is also home to a variety of murals and public art, so be sure to keep your eyes peeled while out and about.

WINNIPEG

The Capital City of Manitoba, Winnipeg is also the last (or first) stop on the Yellowhead Highway. Fort Garry, the Manitoba Legislative Building, and FortWhyte Alive are just a few places to stop. # INDIGENOUS ATTRACTIONS

MIKINAK-KEYA SPIRIT TOUR AT THE CANADIAN MUSEUM FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

Winnipeg

While the Canadian Museum for Human Rights covers many Indigenous issues and explores the history, the Mikinak-Keaya Spirit Tour shows an Indigenous perspective on rights and responsibilities. The tour is inspired by ceremony and traditions and focuses on the Seven Sacred Teachings, which call for us to take responsibility both for how we treat each other and how we live.

LOUIS RIEL'S TOMB

Winnipeg

This historic site marks the resting place of Louis Riel, leader of the Métis during the Red River Rebellion of 1869. He played a critical role in the founding of the province of Manitoba and in protecting the Métis land rights and the rights of the French to their language.

TEEKCA'S ABORIGINAL BOUTIQUE

Winnipeg

In the Forks Market you will find Teekca's Aboriginal Boutique, where you can shop for original art, authentic crafts, and jewellery from more than 300 Indigenous artists from across North America. You can also order custom-designed mukluks and jackets, or take part in a workshop to learn traditional skills such as moccasin-making or soapstone carving.

BROKENHEAD WETLAND INTERPRETIVE TRAIL

80 km north of Winnipeg

This sacred wetland has been used by the local Ojibway for over 300 years for both sacred ceremonies as well as for edible/medicinal plants. The trail is wheelchair accessible and has interpretive signs along the path. There are washrooms and picnic tables at the trailhead, but if you're travelling with a pet, dogs are not allowed on the trail.

PASSPORTS

All travellers to and from the Caribbean, Bermuda, Panama, Mexico, and Canada must have a passport or other secure, accepted document to enter or re-enter the United States.

BORDER CROSSING INFORMATION

Check the U.S. Customs and Border Protection website for the most current information on border crossing requirements. cbp.gov

TAXES

Alberta is the only province in Canada with no Provincial Sales Tax (PST). However, Alberta charges a 4% Tourism Levy on hotel rooms. The Canadian Government charges a 5% Goods & Services Tax (GST) on most purchases. In Saskatchewan there is a separate 10% liquor consumption tax. The non-alcoholic portion of a restaurant meal is not taxed.

This chart indicates the taxes levied on most purchases at press time:

PROVINCE	TYPE	PROV. RATE	FED./PROV. COMB. RATE
AB	GST	0%	5%
BC	GST + PST	7%	12%
MB	GST + PST	8%	13%
SK	GST + PST	5%	10%

LEGAL AGE

The legal minimum age for the purchase or consumption of alcoholic beverages in Canada varies by province.

VISITOR INFORMATION CENTRES

Most communities along the Yellowhead Highway have a visitor information centre that provides a rest stop, travel guides, and updated travel information.

EMERGENCY INFORMATION

In emergency situations, contact the local police, ambulance service, or fire department by calling 911.

WEATHER AND ROAD CONDITIONS

To check conditions and forecasts, visit weather.gc.ca
For up-to-the-minute road reports (except in Saskatchewan), call 511.

CONSTRUCTION/EMERGENCY SPEED LIMIT

Motorists must slow to 60 kph, or less if the posted speed is lower, when passing stopped emergency vehicles (police, ambulance, fire-fighting, public utility, or designated emergency response vehicle) or tow trucks on the same side of the highway with their flashing lights on.

DISTRACTED DRIVING LAWS

Canada has strict laws against distracted driving. Drivers can be charged with this offense and heavily fined if they operate any electronic device such as a cell phone, or are caught eating or grooming while driving. It is also an offense to drive in a way that will distract, startle, or interfere with highway users.

FERRY SERVICES

B.C. Ferries serves almost 50 points of call along the B.C. coastline. For information on fares, routes and times, or to make reservations call 1-888 BC FERRY (toll free in North America) or visit bcferries.com

DOES MY PET NEED A PERMIT?

Many live animals require permits. Often animals require a health inspection in the country of origin. A domestic dog or cat travelling with the owner need only meet the rabies certification requirements.

TIPPING

The average tip in Canada is 20 percent. However, depending on the level and the nature of the service, tipping may range from 10 to more than 20 percent. Tips are generally given for good service by food and beverage servers in bars and restaurants, taxi drivers, tour guides, hotel bellhops, and estheticians. While it is not required to tip other service staff, you are certainly at liberty to do so.

RENTING A CAR

All car rental companies have a strong network of outlets across Canada. To rent a car you must be 21 years old and hold a valid driver's licence and a major credit card. (A surcharge may apply to drivers under 25 years of age.)

RENTING A MOTORHOME

Renting a motorhome is a convenient way to explore the Yellowhead Highway. You may purchase insurance at the time of rental. For lower rates, it is recommended that bookings be made three to four months in advance.

NATIONAL PARK ENTRY

Permits are required for entry into any national park in Canada.
